Wonderful List of Prizes Announced in Double Page Ad for First Time in Today's Paper—Candidates Have Wonderful Opportunity If They Join at Once.—Fill Out Nomination Blank and Bring to Tribune Today or Tomorrow.—Extra Votes Given in Large Numbers.—Get in Early and Win One of Five Cars

Sign the nomination blank that appears in the ad, and mail or better still, bring to the Tribune office. Open until 9 o'clock. This will give you 5,000 votes and start you equal with the rest. Your first subscription on will give you 10,000 more votes plus the regular number due you as per schedule in ad. This will give you a flying start towards that wonderful Hudson sedan or other five cars, with over 18,000 votes. On every club of $30 worth of subscriptions turned in you get a bonus of 200,000; think how many votes you would have if you got your club today or tomorrow. Over 218,000 votes. A few of these and that car would surely be yours. No one has entered as yet. Come in today.

After you have become a candidate in the Tribune Profit Sharing Campaign votes will be awarded you in two ways. First by clipping the fifty vote coupons which will appear daily in the Tribune. Second and fastest will be through getting subscriptions to the Tribune, both new and old, with each subscription turned in a certain number of votes will be given the candidate voted for. These subscriptions may be for one, one and a half or two years and must be paid in advance. When you are once in the race your friends can assist you in many ways both by clipping and saving the fifty free vote coupons and giving you their subscriptions. Renewal or paid in advance subscriptions count the same. Have your friends who are already taking the paper pay you in advance for a year or more and you will be credited with the votes.

No Losers Here Besides the big prizes to be given away, the Tribune will pay 10 percent of the entire proceeds turned in to all who remain active and report each week throughout the campaign. There is no limit to the awards. The amount you win, whether one of the big prizes or a cash commission, will depend entirely upon yourself. The more you do for the Tribune, the more it will do for you. If any of your friends subscribe at the Tribune office, have them secure their votes at the time of payment, and vote them for you. If they do not ask for them at the time they subscribe it will be impossible to check up and allow them later.

The prizes that are to be awarded are listed in a two page ad in this issue.

Grand Capital Prize The man or woman who secures the highest number of votes on subscription payments during this campaign, which will last only six weeks, will be presented with a Hudson Sedan, valued at $2620.

You have dreamed of, longed and wished for an automobile of your own, but it is not likely that your fondest expectations ever, allowed you to even wish for a Hudson Sedan, a motor car which is the undisputed leader in its class. But it is here for you, and it won't cost you anything but a little effort to make it yours. And this Hudson is only one of many wonderful automobiles to be given away.

It is well to explain that while a candidate will enter and compete from the district in which he or she lives, they will be permitted to take subscriptions either in or out of their own district. Eleven prizes are to be awarded in each of the two districts, city and county. The territory is divided into two districts in order to make an equal distribution of the prizes.

The entire plan of the affair breathes of liberality and offers fabulous reward for very little effort, but to enter the campaign involves only the scratch of a pen. Just clip, fill out and send in the Nomination Blank to be found in the display advertisement in this issue and you will be started on the road to success with 5,000 votes to your credit.

Extra Votes Extra votes will be awarded in large numbers during the campaign. On every club of $30 worth of subscriptions turned in at the same time there will be awarded a club bonus of 200,000 votes. It will be easy to get your first $30 worth and thus earn your club bonus.

Campaign Period The Tribune Profit Sharing "Everybody Wins" Campaign will be divided into three periods, as per schedule which appears in today's paper. During the first period, from the time the campaign starts until August 28, you will be given the most votes so it will pay you to get busy immediately. Full details appear in today's paper.

Contest Short Most contests are long-drawn-out affairs, but the Tribune will make this one short and snappy. The contest will begin when you enter and last until September 16. Only six weeks, so make it snappy—enter your name today and get busy—you have as yet an equal chance with everyone. The prizes offered are well worth the effort. How else

SEVERAL HURT IN SMASHUPS OVER SUNDAY

Three Accidents in and Near Bismarck Send Number to Local Hospitals

TWO ARE COLLISIONS

One on Broadway, One on Prison Road and One Near Menoken

When an Oakland sedan driven by Harry Larson and a Ford runabout driven by John Allardings met in a head-on collision on Broadway just west of the swimming pool Saturday night, Mrs. Fred Hoffman, Mrs. T. Meade, and Mrs. M. C. Robinson, received injuries and were rushed to the St. Alexius hospital. Mr. Robinson and Mr. Larson escaped injury.

Mrs. Hoffman received two deep cuts, one just over the crown of the head, a second across the front of the head. Mrs. Meade's main injury was a gash extending from the upper part of her forehead into the skull. Mrs. Robinson received only bruises and a severe abrasion, as did all the accident victims.

Mr. Allardings was at his home today. He was badly hurt about the chest and some teeth were knocked out. The Oakland car was completely smashed up while the damage to the Ford was not so great. Mrs. Robinson has already been discharged from the hospital and Mrs. Meade expects to return to her home today. It is undecided when Mrs. Hoffman will be able to return to her home.

Auto Turns Over John Fraas, section foreman living near Magnus, was badly bruised last night when his Ford car turned over near Menoken east of here. The accident happened when he was turning on a curve in the road. Fraas was thrown to the ground with much force. An X-ray was taken in a local hospital to determine the extent of his injury. He suffered considerably in the chest. It is not believed that any bones were broken but it is feared he may have suffered internal injuries.

A collision between a car driven by Arthur Small and a cab of the Service Taxi Company on the prison road east of the city Saturday night sent the taxi into the ditch. In it were four young people who had been attending a dance. Miss Rose Moynier and Thomas Thorlson Jr. were thrown out with much force but were not badly hurt. A warrant was sworn out by Peter Anton against Small, according to police records, and a hearing will be held tonight.

INVESTIGATES ACCIDENT. G. A. Engbretson arrived here from Fargo Sunday to investigate an auto accident in which his wife and five-year-old son were hurt. The accident happened when Michael Stern, said to be an organizer for the Nonpartisan League, passed the car driven by Mrs. Engbretson and when he turned in the road the cars collided. Mrs. Engbretson was not badly hurt. The child is in a hospital badly bruised and cut. The accident happened Sunday about 30 miles east of here.

OPERATORS AND MINERS' HEADS IN CONFERENCE

Consider Breaking Coal Strike and Resumption of Work Throughout Fields

SUCCESS IS DOUBTFUL

Operators Do Not See Much Chance of Settlement on Mine Workers' Basis

(By the Associated Press) Cleveland, Aug. 7.—Definite program for ending the soft coal strike on a national basis, it was learned here today, will be proposed here Wednesday when operators from all parts of the country are expected to join in conference with the leaders of the striking miners.

Details of the plan for settlement were not disclosed. The plan, it was said, had the approval of enough operators to insure settlement of the coal strike.

(By the Associated Press) Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 7.—Action toward breaking the nation-wide coal strike in the bituminous fields was under consideration of union leaders and coal operators, who held a series of conferences here today in the expectation of reaching a wage agreement. Little progress was expected from the opening meetings, both sides joining in an opening conference and then dividing into two groups to organize for further joint conferences.

Before the conference opened, the prospects were that operators producing at least 65,000,000 tons of coal annually would participate in person or by proxy. This amounts to approximately one-third of the average production of the central competitive field, and seemingly was regarded as a sufficient basis for beginning the peace deliberations.

President Lewis' statement holding out hopes of settlement were backed up by the committee of miners' delegation. Ordinary wage negotiations for the union were carried on by the scale committee, but the union's delegation for the conference included 128 of the policy committee. The committee includes the three international officers and 24 members of the international executive board, its special function being to determine all questions of strike policy.

Extension of the central competitive field, to include northern West Virginia as a part of territory for making a basic wage agreement in the soft coal industry will be sought by the Monksdale Coal Operation Association at the conference.

An application by the operators for the extension of the central field, which now includes Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, it was learned has already been filed with President John L. Lewis of the miners, and will be submitted by him to the union's policy committee for action.

EYE WITNESSES TELL STORY OF RAIL DISASTER

Summoned Before Jury to Describe Accident in Which 37 People Were Killed

HORRORS APPALLING

Fast Train Plunges Through Four Coaches of Local Train Near St. Louis

(By the Associated Press) Sulphur Springs, Mo., Aug. 7.—Eye witnesses were summoned today before a coroner's jury at Desoto, Mo., to recount details of the rear end collision of two Missouri Pacific trains here Saturday when 37 are known to have been killed and 138 injured.

Coroner Elders promised a thorough investigation of circumstances which caused the disaster, the worst train wreck in the history of this part of the country.

While Matt Glenn, dead engineer of the fast train which ploughed through four coaches of the local train near the station was blamed for the accident according to the version of John Cannon, assistant general manager of the road, relatives of the dead and injured joined in demanding a thorough investigation. This was promised by authorities of Jefferson county.

Crews Summoned. The crews of both trains were summoned by the coroner to give their versions of the accident.

Officials of the roads, including Assistant General Manager Cannon, declared that the block signals were found to be in order after the crash occurred and all were unanimous in their assertion that Engineer Glenn did not heed the warning signal.

APPALLING HORRORS

St. Louis, Aug. 7.—Appalling horrors of the Sulphur Springs, Missouri, train wreck were brought to the homes of the St. Louis relatives of victims when two trains bearing scores of dead and injured arrived here from the scene of the disaster. Faces gray with anxiety peered through the grating in frantic efforts to catch glimpses of shrouded bodies as they were taken to waiting automobiles. For hours the crowd surged through the station seeking word that might allay their fears.

Crowds gathered at the city morgue where 26 dead were taken after their arrival on the relief trains, which also brought many injured who were rushed to hospitals. The injured who were able to talk brought with them tales of horrors.

Broken under the strain of her services as volunteer nurse for injured from the ill-fated local train, Miss Florence Steingrub, 24, lay in her home in Maplewood, a suburb, suffering from nervous prostration, while her sister, Mable, was recovering from injuries received when she was hurled against a seat.

After caring for scores of injured at the scene of the wreck, Miss Steingrub, assisted in bringing here J. E. Tinsley, injured fireman of the flyer.

A Nose-Dive Into Breaker Stops Flight

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 7.—A soft spot in the sand of Pablo Beach here brought Lieutenant J. B. Doolittle's attempt to hop to San Diego, Calif., with a single stop for fuel at San Antonio to an abrupt end last night, with 500 yards of the start of his 2,000 miles trip. The specially equipped plane did not get into the air at all. It swerved from its course along the beach and away, nose dived into a breaker and stopped with a wing and the propeller wrecked.

When it nose-dived into a breaker, Doolittle unstrapped himself and jumped free.

FRENCH TAKE STERN STEPS ON WAR DEBTS

First of Measures to Penalize Germany Are to Be Put Into Effect

Paris, Aug. 7.—Premier Poincare at noon today notified the German embassy at Paris that the first of a series of measures to conserve French interests against the association of Germany's pre-war debt payments would be put into effect immediately. The notice followed the receipt of a note from Germany refusing to meet the 2,000,000 pounds installment of these payments to French citizens due August 15.

The first of the French measures consists of the immediate suspension of all payments to German nationals for debts contracted with Frenchmen before the war, both in France and Alsace Lorraine. The offices in Paris and Strasbourg which were set up to liquidate the debts were notified to cease functioning at once and to pay no more German claims until further orders from the premier.

The initial measures also include the suspension of all further payments to Germans for German property requisitioned in France. This property includes estate, villas, art collections, etc.

It was explained at the foreign office that these first measures taken are not penalties, in the strictest sense of the word, but merely action to safeguard the French interests which have been jeopardized by the Germans refusing to pay.

If these measures fail to bring a satisfactory settlement further and more severe measures, it was said, will be enforced. The nature of these is withheld pending the effect of the present action.

NEW PLAN OFFERED FOR SETTLEMENT

Would Put Disputed Seniority Question Up to the Railroad Labor Board

NOTIFIES LEADERS

Asks Both Strike Leaders and Rail Executives to Accept New Plan

(By the Associated Press) New York, Aug. 7.—The heads of 148 American railways, which last week rejected President Harding's first program for settlement of the nation-wide rail strike, probably will be asked to reconvene within four days to consider the latest proposals which the white house has addressed to railroad officials and strikers.

Washington, Aug. 7.—President Harding today called upon striking railroad shopmen to return to work requested the railroads to assign them to work and asked both the workmen and carriers to permit the disputed question of seniority to the railroad labor board.

The president sent telegrams to B. M. Jewell, head of the railroad shopmen's union and T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the association of railway executives, outlining the plan which he hoped would result in speedy termination of the strike.

Mr. Johnston with B. M. Jewell, general leader of the striking shopmen and J. P. Noonan, chief of the electrical workers' brotherhood spent nearly an hour in conference with the president but professed to have no knowledge as to the forthcoming statement from the executive.

The union leaders also refused to comment on suggestions put to them by newspaper men that the president planned to ask the unions to call off the strike and submit the question of the seniority status to be given the returning strikers to the adjustment of the railroad labor board. White House officials soon after the union chiefs left the White House, it was announced that the president would receive the newspaper correspondents at one o'clock at which time it was expected that he would make public his new plan.

The statement was made by the president that he was "mindful of the pledge of both the executives and the striking workmen to recognize the validity of all decisions by the railroad labor board." He also pointed out that the question of seniority "which the executives rejected," as outlined recently in a settlement plan proposed by him, "remains in dispute and bars a settlement."

The president, it was stated, trusts the new proposal will draw the support of public opinion and will bring about a speedy ending of the strike now in its sixth week.

HIS PROPOSAL FINAL

The statement was authoritatively made at the White House in connection with the call issued by the president that Mr. Harding regarded his proposals as a final proposal from the government for voluntary action by the railroads and employers to end the menace to the country's interests which the administration sees in the paralysis of transportation particularly in coal fields. The proposals today were made without consultation with railroad executives and the president does not know what will be the attitude of the labor unions, it was added.

LITTLE DOING IN CHICAGO

(By the Associated Press) Chicago, Aug. 7.—Chicago appeared to be in the doldrums of the rail strike today during the absence of some of the leading figures in the shopmen's walkout.

B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor with other strike leaders was in Washington expecting to resume discussions with President Harding.

Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the United States labor board was on his short vacation.

Scattered indications of disorders marked the early part of the sixth week of the strike. A passenger train on the Western Alabama, en route from Atlanta to Montgomery was fired on by alleged strike sympathizers, according to reports from Montgomery. No persons were injured.

W. S. McLane, car foreman in the Illinois Central shops at Birmingham, was kidnapped and taken to woods near Cardiff, Alabama, and badly beaten.

Eight men said to be striking Burlington railroad shop workers, and the wives of two of them were arrested by federal officers on charges of violating injunctions at Havelock, Nebraska.

Specific charges included painting houses yellow, intimidating company guards, threatening workers and causing disorders.

State authorities in Tennessee were investigating a $500,000 fire of badly beaten.

CONFISCATION
All German farmers are ordered by the Reichstag to turn over to the government a fourth of this year's grain crops. The grain will be sold to the poor at a third of market price.
Germany is wise enough to look after its own unfortunates. In America, charity begins away from home.

WEATHER
England is having queer weather.
Its climate is changing, says John Harrison, British scientist. The cause, he believes, is a shifting of the Gulf current, due to the damage to the structure of the railroad
across the Florida keys to Key West.
What do you think of man's power, when he changes the weather? Merlín, King Arthur's magician, never dreamed of Black Magic like that.

FINGERPRINTS
Prejudice against finger-printing
of bank depositors is vanishing.
This is reported by postal savings officials. People no longer are averse to this kind of identification on account of its association with criminals. That prejudice was as senseless as it would be to take all locks off doors because locks are used on jail cells.

Somewhere on earth, you probably have an exact "double"—a perfect duplicate of you, except for finger-prints. They are the only inimitable forerunners of identification. Every body's prints should be taken at birth. For one thing, it would avoid mixups such as the kind that made "Pudd'nhead Wilson" famous.

TREES
Benedictine monks for 910 years have been cultivating one of the world's finest forests. It surrounds an ancient hermitage, about 50
miles southeast of Florence, Italy.
A report in an American forestry magazine says that this forest is as fine as it was nearly 1000 years ago,
though lumber has been taken out of it steadily in great quantities.
The shrewd monks plant new trees as fast as they cut down old ones. Our forests rapidly are disappearing. Unless we want a treeless America we, too, will have to plant a tree for each one logged.
Forest destruction is our greatest waste.

POLICE
A Chicago policeman's diary,
written in 1853-1855, comes to light.
One entry says: "Arrested I. Breed,
a hotel thief, and had his likeness taken. Went out on fresh trail of Vanderhills' mares. Found out that one had been swapped for a horse."
Most of the thefts, covered by this five years' record, involve horses and petty objects that professional criminals of 1922 would scuff at.
Chief reason we have so much crime now is because there is so much more wealth than there was the Civil war, when things really worth stealing were few and far between.
More bait, more fish.

THE LABEL ON THE BOTTLE
When you buy your liquor nowadays, take a good look at the label. Give it the once over three times. Before you stand up to the nozzle and say, "how-de-do, say
"Who are you?" For there may be danger lurking beneath the label.
The label and label-and-bottle business is flourishing. In direct ratio to the popularity of "red eye"
and in inverse proportion to the activity of the prohibition agents.
It is founded upon the principle that you can fool most of the people
all of the time.
Nowadays the man with taste and inclinations is getting fussy. He changes his bootlegger nearly as often as he changes his suit. When the morning after proves to be a mourning after, the toper figures
it's about time to tap a new source of supply.
And the first question he asks is:
"Well, is it real honest-to-goodness,
hope-to-cross-me-in-the-eye stuff?"
And the bootlegger says:
"Say, listen. If I was to tell you something, you wouldn't believe me, would you? So let me tell this stuff straight out to you. This stuff is the last ship, the Hexagon, landed in Boston yesterday. 4,000
quarts—and I helped to unload it myself. Now you wouldn't believe that, would you?"
Then something makes you take one more chance and you slip over the green-and-gold embossing for a drink that would make you explode if you stood in the hot sunshine, while the doctor at the infirmity enters "sunstroke" on the register.—Boston Globe.

UNCLE SAM SANTA CLAUS Senator Francis of Maryland has introduced in congress a bill authorizing the president of the United States to give six American warships to Poland. Santa Claus often makes gifts which the judicious look upon with disfavor. He is likely to put rifles into the hands of boys; he may pass out articles
of great delicacy to youngsters,
who smash them, without knowing their worth. Sometimes Santa Claus gives to small boys and girls presents which provoke jealousy in the breasts of the children of neighbors. Uncle Sam may be a Santa Claus, but he should be a disgracing Santa Claus.—New York

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The Magical Mushroom had to go home back to the earth to help his dear mistress, the Fairy Queen.
So the Chocolate Rooster said he'd go with the Twins to help hunt for Flap-Doodle, the purple fairy who flew with his ears. Flap-Doodle had stolen the Fairy Queen's wand and had gone up to the Tinkly-Winkle Star to hide.
"I'll never rest until I find him,"
declared the Rooster. "The reward!
To change me into a dreadful thing
like this when I was such a handsome Tinkly-Winkle! All my friends envied me my looks!"
Well—they went off down the road
of the Tinkly-Winkle Star and pretty soon they came to a lake.
"We've got magic Green Shoes and we can wish ourselves over,"
said Nick. "But what about you?
Can you swim?"
"Not any more," said the Chocolate Rooster sadly. "Not since I lost my ears. I used them for both swimming and flying."
"Then we'll have to go around,"
remarked Nancy.
But the lake kept spreading and no matter where they turned—there it was!
"We'll have to carry you over,"
said Nick. "Nancy, you take a wing and I'll take one—then we'll wish ourselves on the other side."
But right over the middle of the lake the Chocolate Rooster's wings
broke and the poor thing fell plump
into the water.
"Help, quick—I'm melting," cried
the rooster.
The Twins fished him out just in time. But he was so slippery they could scarcely catch hold.

THE RED HOUSE MYSTERY
by A. MILNE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

It was with considerable disgust
that MARK ABLETT, bachelor proprietor of The Red House, had informed his house-party guests that his ne'er-do-well brother ROBERT, who had been absent for 15 years in Australia, was to visit him that afternoon.
Mark and his companion,
MATT CAYLEY, awaited the arrival of Robert after lunch, the guests playing golf. Robert arrived, was ushered into Mark's office by the maid.

AUDREY STEVENS, who went to inform her master. Before she found Mark a shot was heard and ANTHONY GILLINGHAM, a friend of BILLY BEVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, entered the house to find Cayley pounding on the locked door and demanding admittance.
The two men entered the office
through a window and discovered
a body on the floor with a shot in the head. Mark was not to be found and the head man, Cayley told Anthony, was the brother who had just arrived.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IV
Guests at The Red House were allowed to do what they liked within reason—the reasonableness or otherwise of it being decided by Mark.
But when once they (or Mark) had made up their minds as to what they wanted to do, the plan had to be kept. Mrs. Calladine, who knew this little weakness of their host's, resisted, therefore, the suggestion of Bill that they should have a second round of golf in the afternoon, and drive home comfortably after tea.

Anthony was standing in front of the house, waiting for them. Bill waved, and he waved back. Then as the car drew up, Bill, who was in front with the chauffeur, jumped down and greeted him eagerly.
"Hallo, you madman, have you come to stay, or what?" He had a sudden idea. "Don't say you're Mark Ablett's long-lost brother from Australia, though I could quite believe it of you." He laughed boyishly.

"Hallo, Bill," said Anthony quietly.
"Will you introduce me? I'm afraid I've got some bad news."
Bill rather sobered by this, introduced him. The Major and Mrs. Calladine were on the near side of the car, and Anthony spoke to them in a low voice.
"I'm afraid I'm going to give you rather a shock," he said. "Robert Ablett, Mr. Mark Ablett's brother, has been killed. He jerked a thumb over his shoulder, 'In the house.'"
"Do you mean that he has just killed himself?" asked Mrs. Calladine.

"It was about two hours ago. I happened to come here," he half-turned to Beverley and explained—
"I was coming to see you, Bill, and I arrived just after the death
Mr. Cayley and I found the body.
Mr. Cayley being busy just now—there are police and doctors and so on in the house—he asked me to tell you. He says that no doubt you would prefer the house-party having been broken up in this tragic way to leave as soon as possible." He gave a pleasant apologetic little smile.

Bill gazed with open mouth at Anthony. Mrs. Calladine was quietly mistress of herself.
"We shall be in the way, yes, I quite understand," she said; "but we can't just shake the dust of the place off our shoes because something terrible has happened there. I must see Mark. He must know how we feel." she hesitated.
"The Major and I might be useful anyway," said Bill.

"Where is Mark?" said the Major
suddenly, looking hard at Anthony.
Anthony looked back unwaveringly
—and said nothing.
"I think," said the Major gently, leaning over to Mrs. Calladine, "that it would be better if you took Betty back to London tonight."
"Very well," she agreed quietly.

As Anthony re-entered the hall, the Inspector from Middleton was just crossing into the library with Cayley. Anthony stopped and nodded to Anthony.
"Wait a moment, Inspector. Here's Mr. Gillingham." And then to Anthony, "This is Inspector Birch."
Birch looked inquiringly from one to the other.

"Mr. Gillingham and I found the body together," explained Cayley.
"Oh! Well, come along, and let's get the facts sorted out a bit."
They went into the library. The Inspector seated himself at a writing
table, and Cayley sat in a chair by the side of it. Anthony made himself comfortable in an armchair and prepared to be interested.
"We'll start with the dead man,"
said the Inspector. "Robert Ablett, didn't you say?" He took out his notebook.

"Yes, Brother of Mark Ablett,
who lives here."
Anthony listened attentively while Cayley explained all that he knew about Robert. This was news to him.

"He said, 'Robert's here?' of something of the sort. I said 'Yes,' and he gave a sort of shrug, and said,
"Don't go too far away, I might want you," and then went in."
"What did you think he meant by that?"
"Well, he consults me a good deal,
you know. I'm his sort of unofficial solicitor in a kind of way."
"Yes. How long was it before you heard the shot?"
"Two minutes, perhaps."
The Inspector finished his writing, and then regarded Cayley thoughtfully. Suddenly he said:
"What is your theory of Robert's death?"
Cayley shrugged his shoulders.
"You've probably seen more than I've seen," he answered. "I can only speak as a layman—and Mark's friend."
"Well?"
"Then I should say that Robert came here meaning trouble, and bringing a revolver with him. He produced it almost at once, Mark tried to get it from him, there was a little struggle perhaps, and it went off. Mark lost his head, finding himself with a revolver in his hand and a dead man at his feet. His one idea was to escape. He locked the door almost instinctively, and then,
when he heard me hammering at it,
went out of the window."
"Yes—yes. Well, that sounds reasonable enough. What do you say,
Mr. Gillingham?"
"I should hardly call it 'reasonable' to lose your head," said Anthony, getting up from his chair and coming towards them.

"Well, you know what I mean. It explains things."
Oh, yes. Any other explanation would make them much more complicated."
"Have you any other explanation?"
"Not I."
"Well now, about yourself. You're not staying in the house, I gather?"
Anthony explained his previous movements.

"Yes. Did you hear the shot?"
"Yes. Just as I came in sight of the house. It didn't make any impression at the time, but I remember it now."
"Where were you then?"
"Coming up the drive."
"Nobody left the house by the front door after the shot?"
"Nobody," he said. "No."
"Thank you. You're at 'The George,' if I want you?"
"Mr. Gillingham is staying here until after the inquest," explained Cayley.

TODAY'S WORD

Today's word is—CONGLOMER-ATE.
It's pronounced—con-glom-er-ate,
with accent on the second syllable.
It means—that which is gathered into a ball or mass, a collection, a heaped-together accumulation.

It comes from Latin "conglom-erare," to roll together.
It's used like this—"Critics of the wide-open political primary say recent tests have consisted in submission to the voters of vast conglomerates of names, from which the average man found it hard to make intelligent selections."

A THOUGHT

Take therefore no thought for the morrow; for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.—Matthew 6:34

Our worst misfortunes never happen, and most miseries lie in anticipation.—Balzac.

BOARD MEETS TOMORROW

North Dakota's board of equalization will meet again Tuesday, August 8th to consider the many factors entering into the laying of taxes for the year with a possibility that some of the assessments of corporations may be announced shortly. No recommendations have yet been made to the board by the Tax Commissioner concerning the rates or levies.

A Delightful Variety of Preserves can be made with

Peaches, Pears and Plums

JAMS, jellies, conserves and pickles are most delicious, wholesome and healthful when made at home with the fine quality peaches, pears
and plums from the Pacific Northwest.

Get them as soon as they're on the market and put up a generous supply of preserves—in Ball Mason jars. Your family will be grateful and your guests appreciative in the months to come. You'll save money, too—from 1/4 to 1/2—by doing your own canning. Factory prepared fruits are extravagant.

Sweet Pickled
Peaches or Pears
1/2 peck peaches
2 lbs. brown sugar
1 pint vinegar
1 of stick cinnamon
cloves
Boil sugar, vinegar
and cinnamon 20 minutes. Dip peaches quickly into hot water, then rub off the fur with a towel. Stick four cloves into each peach. Put into the syrup and cook until soft, using half the fruit at a time. Follow same recipe for pears.

A BUSINESS
MOTIVE POWER

The time must come when all businesses will consider the advisability of advertising in the same spirit that a manufacturer ponders over the advisability of adopting a new machine. One does not install a piece of labor-saving mechanism because it suits his fancy; but because the efficiency of the business requires it.

He expects the new machine to reduce his cost to operate—perhaps to make a better product—and thus aid him in meeting competition and making larger profits.

Advertising is exactly similar. The man who refuses to consider it as a possible expedient, simply shuts his eyes on one of the problems of his business. He might as well ignore the banks as sources of credit when he has
need to borrow capital.

On the other hand, the man who looks to advertising to checkmate all weaknesses and shortcomings of his business and to carry it along to victory despite these, has a childlike faith in the miraculous.

Advertising will not make his product or his service any better than they are; but it will bring him the full benefits of their merits. It will not eliminate wastefulness in his factory or his store; but it will reduce his cost to operate. It will not make illogical selling methods successful; but it will assist good selling methods, and often point the way for improving them.

Advertising is the most inexpensive motive power that the manufacturer or merchant can buy today. It is a form of stimulus that brings excellent returns on the investment.

Jamestown, Bismarck and Mandan Rotary Clubs Will Gather at Isabel

Bismarck, Mandan and Jamestown Rotary clubs will unite soon for a big inter-city Rotary meeting at Lake Isabel. Announcement to this effect was made at the regular noon-day luncheon at the McKenzie hotel. Details will be announced in the near future and the event promises to be one of the most enjoyable in state Rotary. Bismarck has been extended tentatively the invitation to entertain the next District Rotary convention provided it is not held in Milwaukee. Norman Black, district governor has asked whether Bismarck would issue an invitation for such an event.

It was a red letter day in Rotary. The program was varied and snappy. Jimmie Taylor had a birthday and it was ushered in with a Kewpie presented by Henry Duemeland, who is vice-president and chairman of the committee. Mr. Taylor responded to his biography as given by Lewis Craswell to the tune "Ain't Nature Grand." The secret was let out of the bag when it became known that J. C. Taylor, assistant manager of the International, once played a hand on the Watertown team before Mike Cantillon purchased a controlling interest.

Relates Nelson's History

George Dullam told of Carl Nelson and the part the popular manager of the Northern Produce plays in the industrial life of the city. Nelson came back with an estimate of Mr. Dullam's place in the community. Judge Christianson told of Bob Simpson and the "Troubles of a Fruit Man." During a Railroad Strike "Bob" retaliated by telling of some of the habits of the justice not generally known to any but his close neighbors.

Dr. Towne reviewed the current number of the Rotarian in a very interesting manner.

The club entertained two guests: B. C. Tighe, principal of the Fargo High school and Dr. Paulson of Watertown. Mr. Tighe told of some humorous incidents he experienced as a hail adjuster, a side-line he follows during the holidays. He told of the bumper crops which he has seen in his trips and declared that the hail losses would affect very slightly the crop yield in the aggregate.

For Diversified Farming Dr. Paulson who owns farm lands in this state made a very earnest plea for more diversified farming. He told what had been done the last few years about Watertown and insisted that the same success could be achieved in this section.

J. J. McLeod told what strikes he was making in the swimming classes among the boys and girls. The camps have been successful. A special class in life saving is proving beneficial. The boys in this class gave a fine exhibition last Friday evening at Yege's dam when they

It is with mingled pleasure and pride that The Bismarck Tribune announces a $10,000 profit-sharing campaign kind ever attempted in this section. The list of twenty-five awards is headed by five of America's foremost automobiles distributed throughout the territory covered by this publication.

There is nothing intricate or difficult to understand about the plan of the campaign. Each and every participant will have a fair, square and impartial opportunity to win the coveted prize. The Tribune with its already large family of readers, illustrating beyond a doubt its value as a home newspaper, desires to increase its circulation not only in Bismarck but in the rural districts and towns of this and adjacent counties as well, and for this purpose a fortune in prizes is to be lavished upon live, wide-awake men and women who will exert a little effort during their spare time in securing subscriptions to the Tribune. Never before has an offer of this magnitude been made in this city—the opportunity may never come again.

To become a candidate in the campaign is the simplest matter possible. Just clip, fill out and mail or bring in the Nomination Blank to be found on this page and you will be started on the road to success with 5,000 free votes to your credit. As soon as your nomination is received by the campaign department you will be furnished with forms and full information for securing votes. HOW VOTES ARE SECURED

There are two ways to secure votes: One, by clipping the 50-free vote coupons which will appear in The Bismarck Tribune until further notice; the other by securing "pre-paid" new and renewal subscriptions to The Bismarck Tribune. Votes are given in large numbers on all subscription payments according to the schedule published elsewhere.

Start your campaign for votes early, so as to get the advantage of the most votes. To enter the campaign make use of the Nomination Blank found on this page, which will credit you with 5,000 votes. Then tell one of your friends or acquaintances that you are out to win one of the automobiles, and get a subscription. This being your FIRST subscription, you will receive 10,000 additional votes by using the "First Subscription Coupon" printed elsewhere, besides the regular votes issued on the subscription according to the vote schedule.

Tell your friends to save the free vote coupons for you, and most of them will be glad, also, to make a payment on their subscription, which means more votes to you. Once they learn of your ambition, they will jump in and help you toward a win NOW!

DOUBLE BILL HERE GOES TO MITCHELL TEAM

League Leaders Go on a Batting Spree Against Bismarck Team on Sunday

WHITE SOX TAKE PLAYER

Hitters of the league-leading Mitchell team fattened their batting averages in the double-header with Bismarck Sunday afternoon, taking the first game, by a score of 16 to 5 and the second, 9 to 0. Walters, the big first baseman of the visitors, and O'Shaughnessy led the batting spree, the former getting 6 hits out of 10 time up and the latter 6 out of 9 trips to the plate.

A high wind kept the attendance down and made playing difficult, a fly ball being liable to fall any place between the fence and home plate. Some circus catchers and fast infield work at times brought hands from the crowd, although the games were one-sided.

Manager Schenck of the visitors announced before the game that he had sold pitcher E. Duff to the Chicago White Sox, giving the price as $4,000. Duff to join the Sox at the end of the season. He came to Mitchell from the Pacific Three-Eye league on a trade for catcher Askland. Last year he was with the Moose Jaw team in Canada.

Because of the injury of Everett, another infielder was expected in today for the Bismarck club, and the line-up will be changed by Manager Louis Bachant.

TO MOVE COAL TO NORTHWEST Plans for Supplying Section with Winter Stock

Washington, Aug. 7.—Plans for coal movement to the northwest to supply that section with its winter fuel stocks were under consideration today by the federal central coal committee.

The committee was said by officials to contemplate inauguration of a weekly movement of coal by way of the coal and ore exchange of Cleveland, starting with shipments aggregating about 30,000 tons daily, or more than 200,000 tons a week and increasing the allocation to that section as rapidly as possible until about 1,000,000 tons are moved to the lakes weekly.

Regional committees appointed last week by Fuel Distributor Spencer now are producing in the producing fields, officials declared and orders for coal from railroads, public utilities and states are being forwarded them from the central distribution office.

PETITION DRAWN.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—Passage of a resolution Saturday by the Wisconsin fuel committee to be presented at Governor Preus' Northwestern coal conference in St. Paul August 10, "petitioning the president of the United States to either obtain the immediate resumption of coal mining and railroad activities under their private management or exercise the powers of the president to operate these industries through public agencies," was the outstanding feature of the committee's work since appointment by Governor Blaine.

BIG MOVEMENT SEEN.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—Movement of coal on the lakes at the rate of 200,000 tons per week will begin today, H. B. Spencer, federal fuel administrator telegraphed Governor Preus this morning.

Mr. Spencer asked that the northwestern states co-operate in the distribution of this weekly quota to give all industries and all different sections a fair amount. He declared that the quota will be increased if the production warrants it.

Governor Preus declared that while 200,000 a week is not sufficient to lay up a supply for the winter, it will take care of the current needs of the northwest. He added that the quota should be increased to 400,000 tons per week, in order to assure a supply up to April 1.

Ivan Bowen, state fuel administrator, today continued to receive numerous appeals for coal from various points in the northwest, including Lanesboro, Minnesota, Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and Duluth.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 7.—Rules governing government inspection of locomotives are not being enforced, it was charged here today by R. H. Henning, chairman of the strike committee of the six federated shop crafts unions. Mr. Henning said he was here to look over the strike situation in the vicinity of the head of the lakes.

The railroads especially the eastern ones, are trying to break the shop craft union," said Mr. Henning. "It is the hardest job they ever have tackled. The unions have accepted President Harding's proposition for a settlement. The next move is up to the railroads. If they don't accept the proposals of the president, then the president should make the railroads abide by them."

Attacking the Duluth, Messabe and Northern, and Duluth and Iron Range, ore carrying railroads, Mr. Henning said these roads had never put any orders of the labor board in effect that were friendly to organized labor.

MANY LAUGH AT MISSOURI

Scores of Autoists Cross Bridge on Sunday

The old Missouri river, for 50 years respected by all and feared by many, was given a derisive laugh Sunday as scores of autoists crossed the new vehicular bridge for the first time. It was a little difficult getting on to the bridge from the east side but when the autoists got going on the smooth pavement across the bridge they looked down on the "Big Muddy" with scorn. Their thoughts quickly turned again, however, as they got on the road approach on the west side, for the grade was soft and the auto skidded and twisted and thumped. Nevertheless a lot of people drove across the bridge and right back again just to experience the thrill.

It may be sometime before the road on the west side is in good shape, it was stated again today and it is possible that the bridge may be closed again.

"If the roads were only paved," was the comment of many autoists.

FIRST BALLOON FORCED OUT

(By the Associated Press)

Geneva, Aug. 7.—The first of the balloons competing in the James Gordon-Bennett race to come to earth was the Spanish entry, "Jesus Fernando Duro," piloted by E. Magdalena, which was damaged and forced to land in Grand Saconnex, near here, after one hour's flight.

The English balloon "Bee" piloted by Griffith Brewer, landed at one o'clock this morning, near Zurich, on account of heavy rains.

Among the expert favorites to win are Captain Ambrosio, Swiss; Maurice Bismann, French; and Oscar Westover, American, in the order named.

The other American pilots are, H. E. Honeywell and W. Reed. Captain George, pilot of the Belgian balloon "Zelick" telegraphed to the committee that he had landed in a snowstorm in the forest northeast of Friedrichshafen at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

Indications now are that the race will be much shorter than had been anticipated owing to bad weather.

TAX REFUNDING RULE IS MADE

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue Gander Olson, of the district of North Dakota.

Following recent decisions in the supreme court of the United States in the cases of the Union Trust company et al., executor of the estate of William C. Doyle, and Shaw, executor versus Doyle, collector, the statement was published that it would not be necessary for estates to file claims for refunds to which they were entitled under such decisions.

Existing regulations provide for the refunding of estate taxes only upon the filing of a claim therefor by the taxpayer. It will therefore be necessary for all taxpayers who are entitled to a refund of estate taxes by reason of the above entitled decisions to make formal claim therefor on Form 848 which claim should be filed with the collector for the district, wherein the tax was paid for transmittal to the office of the commissioner of internal revenue, for appropriate action.

Section 3228, revised statutes, as amended by Section 1316 of the Revenue Act of 1921 provided that all claims for the refunding or crediting of any internal revenue tax alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected must be presented to the commissioner of internal revenue within four years next after payment of such tax. Consequently estate taxes affected by the above decisions can only be refunded provided a claim therefor is filed within four years after the payment of such taxes.

During the strike Chicago depended on automobiles and buses, suburban steam lines, trucks, wagons, roller skates and many relics of the past for transportation.

G. O. P. BEFORE OHIO VOTERS

Harding Administration Factor in Campaign

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—With prohibition, progressivism and labor the headlines as issues in Ohio's state-wide primary tomorrow, political leaders expect a heavy vote to be polled and some close races developed.

Whether the national administration is to receive the endorsement of Ohio voters will be determined in great measure in the success or defeat of Carmi A. Thompson, of Cleveland, a former United States treasurer, who has been closely identified with the Harding administration, for the gubernatorial nomination.

The progressive issue has been brought to the fore chiefly through the candidacies of congressman C. L. Knight, of Akron, and Daniel W. Williams, Jackson publisher, both of whom followed the lead of Colonel Roosevelt in 1912, Williams then being the progressive candidate for lieutenant-governor. Both have waged campaign stressing issues put forward by Colonel Roosevelt.

The clear wet and dry fight, revolves about C. Somer Dryand, Coshocton attorney and a leader in former wet and dry fights. Mr. Durand is running on a beer and light wine platform.

CLAMPS LID ON PRESS STORIES

Special Agents to Give Only Local News, Kitchen Decides

Special agents in the employment service were today ordered to desist in giving to the press statements regarding the employment service other than local items concerning their own offices and territory, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor J. A. Kitchin announced. The reason assigned was "garbled statements by many in and out of the service are disconcerting and causing much anxiety to farmers requiring help."

The following special labor agencies will continue open pending further orders: Bismarck, Fargo, Grand Forks, Devils Lake, Oakes and Minot, and the special office at 117 Marquette avenue, Minneapolis, until August 16, when the special rate from the Twin Cities ends.

DISCLAIMS INTENT

(By the Associated Press)

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 7.—Full investigation of the withdrawal of eight special employment office agents in North Dakota by George Tucker, Kansas City field agent of the federal service was asked in a telegram sent Governor R. A. Nestos by Gordon Randlett of the extension division agricultural college it was announced today. Mr. Tucker in withdrawing the workers declared John Hays, state county agent, asked at the college had announced state provision for handling harvest labor.

Mr. Hays in a telegram to F. I. Jones, Washington, head of the federal service, disclaimed any intent to interfere with the federal machine in his announcement of a state labor office at Minneapolis. He deplored such construction of it.

BLOOM CASE TO BE APPEALED TO SUPREME COURT

Decision of Judge W. L. Nuesse upholding the action of Governor Nestos in declaring vacant the office of fish and game commissioner because John H. Bloom failed to qualify for the office is expected to be followed by an appeal to the supreme court. In the meantime reorganization of the fish and game board is underway, with Elmer Judd, appointed to succeed Bloom, acting. Game wardens have been or are to be appointed for the various parts of the state.

Similar legal questions are involved in the Cahill case pending in the courts. In this case Governor Nestos declared the office of member of the board of administration held by J. I. Cahill vacant on the ground that Cahill had failed to qualify. The secretary of state reported that oath of office was an lie.

An early trial of the Cahill case in district court here will be sought, Attorney General Johnson said today. The case was on the July calendar of the district court here but was not reached. It may be tried yet this month. It is understood that Cahill will maintain that he tendered his oath of office to an employee of the secretary of state's office and paid the filing fee.
